Glacier Hills Senior Living Community Celebrates Black History Month through Virtual Motown Concert

Popular Motown tribute band, KGB, headlines virtual concert for senior community

ANN ARBOR, MI – On February 19, 2021, from 3-4 p.m., Glacier Hills Senior Living Community will host a virtual Motown concert in celebration of Black History Month.

Headlining the concert is KGB, a multi-instrumentalist Motown tribute band. The band name represents each member: Keith Dotson, Glenn McFarland and Bruce Sims. They're well-loved in metro-Detroit, having played at large venues like MGM Grand Detroit Casino and events like Motown Winter Blast.

Motown is a notable contribution made to the music industry. It was created and popularized by the first Black-owned and Detroit-based record label, Motown Records. Classic artists such as The Temptations, Marvin Gaye and Diana Ross were produced there.

"We are excited to virtually bring KGB into our community to celebrate Black History Month," said Craig Courts, President of Glacier Hills. "Motown music is something people from all over the world can enjoy, but it's just a little more special to us here in Michigan. It's also something people of any age can enjoy, although our current and future residents may feel a little more nostalgic about it."

The Facebook Live concert can be streamed by anyone with or without a Facebook account and is free. Interested attendees can let Glacier Hills know they plan to attend by emailing krishaun.burns@glacierhills.org or calling 734-913-0730. They can also learn more about Glacier Hills' future events by liking and following their Facebook page at facebook.com/GlacierHillsSeniorLivingCommunity.
